NA44: Iodopropynyl butylcarbamate

Patient Information

Your patch test result indicates that you have a contact allergy to iodopropynyl butylcarbamate. This contact allergy may cause your skin to react when it is exposed to this substance although it may take several days for the symptoms to appear. Typical symptoms include redness, swelling, itching, and fluid-filled blisters.

Where is iodopropynyl butylcarbamate found?

Iodopropynyl butylcarbamate is a preservative used in cosmetics, wet wipes (toilet paper), and other personal care products. It is also used as a biocide in paints, primers, and industrial coolants and cooling lubricants.

How can you avoid contact with iodopropynyl butylcarbamate?

Avoid products that list any of the following names in the ingredients:

- Butyl-3-iodo-2-propynylcarbamate
